Pocono Poverty--How Bad Is It?

President Johnson has declared unconditional war on poverty. How much of a battleground exists in Monroe County? This is the first of five articles on poverty in Monroe County.

By FRANK PERRETTA
Record News Editor

STROUDSBURG — The 10-year-old girl wore a gingham pinafore — one obviously too large — but made to fit by tying double her top straps and hiking up her skirt.

Because it was chilly she wore what appeared to be a man's tee shirt. But she was clean. So were her clothes while her mother pawed through the used clothes on the teetering rack in the Salvation Army's Thrift Store in East Stroudsburg, the young girl watched anxiously.

Not once did her eyes turn to the counters of used toys, diapered dolls or stuffed animals. She seemed almost mature beyond her age.

But the shoes acted as a magnet. The huge pile of shoes thrown helter skelter in a stall lured the young girl. She walked over to the shoes and stared.

6-Day Work Week Urged For Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said Tuesday he is prodding leaders in Congress to give full and complete attention "six days a week" to the backlog of legislation between now and the Republican National Convention.

Immediately after the convention, Johnson said, he hopes Congress will return and act on the some remaining 30 bills "we think are desirable." Of these, he said, about 20 have passed the House.

Speedy Action Sought
The problem facing the majority leaders in following the President's call for speedy action is the eagerness of Republicans to get to San Francisco ahead of the opening of their national convention July 13.

The Platform Committee meets there the week before and many congressmen are on it. Others want to testify.

Johnson told a news conference, "We have asked the leadership of the two houses to confer with the Republicans and ask them if they wouldn't permit us to vote on as many of these bills as possible." He added:

The Senate now plans to recess from July 10 to July 20. The Senate backlog piled up during the 15-week-long civil rights battle.

The House legislative backlog is much smaller, but the Democratic leadership there is getting strong demands by Republicans to stay away until after the convention when Congress recesses July 2 for the Independence Day weekend. The Senate plans to return July 6.

—Pledged that "we are going to do everything we can, when the civil rights bill becomes law, to appeal to the people of this country to observe the law of the land and provisions of that bill."

—Voiced hope that in the coming election the two parties "will carry on the highest type of campaign," and "appeals to hate and prejudice would be kept at the very bare minimum."

—Announced the United States and Russia have agreed to look into the possibility of scientific co-operation on methods of desalting sea water, including possible use of atomic power. U.S. and Soviet representatives are to meet in Washington July 14-15.

Call Gal Files Searched For Line on U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Card files of an apparent call-giving containing the names of 2,000 men, many described as prominent here, will be searched Monday to see if they point to any improper activity in the Senate.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said Tuesday he has an appointment to see the files. He added that some names of interest in his Senate probe have turned up in the files.

The Washington Evening Star reported that the files were made public by Arthur A. Marshall Jr., state's attorney in suburban Prince Georges County, Md. He said he had released the files because word of their existence had leaked out and he preferred accurate stories rather than "half truths" and innuendoes.

Navigator Blown Out Of Plane

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—A 35-year-old navigator was blown through the door of a B52 Tuesday and perished.

The plane was at 33,000 feet and the man was not wearing a parachute.

Sheppard Air Force Base spokesmen here identified the victim as Capt. Richard Carroll.

Carroll's widow and four children live in Wichita Falls. He originally was from Hartford, Conn.

The door through which the captain was blown was found by Mrs. Clyde Dixon near Lewisville, a suburb of Dallas. The plane was passing between Dallas and Denton when the incident occurred.

Search teams on the ground and in the air sought the body. Lt. L.M. LoMonico of the Public Information Office at Sheppard said it was possible an accidental detonation of the ejection seat took place.

The bomber, piloted by Lt. Col. Fred Rushman, had eight persons aboard for the routine training flight.

Not once did her eyes turn to the counters of used toys, diapered dolls or stuffed animals. She seemed almost mature beyond her age.

But the shoes acted as a magnet. The huge pile of shoes thrown helter skelter in a stall lured the young girl. She walked over to the shoes and stared.

Once she received a nod from her mother, she began gingerly to sort out the shoes. She picked a pair that were toeless and heelless, more the style for an adult. Her mother walked over and whispered something in her ear. Together they dug into the collection of shoes.

Her mother picked a pair that were sturdy, had laces, and a strong walking foundation. She whacked the shoe on the floor and smiled at the loud resounding slap.

Apparently this is the way the poor check the flexibility of the leather — I saw three other women do the same in the store on Washington Street. It reminded me of tire-kickers in a used car lot.

The woman then bent the shoe until toe touched heel. The decision was made. They would buy the shoes.

"Ma, this is good . . . the shoes are real leather . . . I never had leather shoes before," the child said.

"Yes, you did . . . before your father died. The woman looked at me to elaborate. "All she remembers are sneakers but we used to buy her leather shoes on Main Street . . ."

These were only two of the faces of poverty I've met in Monroe County in the past month. The Thrift Store is one of the best places to meet the poverty-stricken. Because it is in such a shop as that they are able to buy necessities on their limited budgets.

People like this in Monroe County are in the minority, however, and officials on almost all levels acknowledge the existence of poverty in the Poconos but don't regard the problem as one of paramount importance.

They may be right if they deal with numbers. But let's try to put the poverty picture in perspective.

What about poverty in the Poconos?

Monroe County commissioners may be playing ostrich or may be sincere. They acknowledge there is poverty in the county but apparently there are other more pressing problems to battle.

How much poverty? The commissioners are vague when asked.

In a recent appearance at a board meeting the poverty question was broached. Democratic Commissioner Stuart Pipher said simply, "The county is in pretty good shape . . . there's some poverty though . . ."

Republican Commissioner John Price looked helplessly about when the term "pockets of poverty" was used. He was at a loss and said he couldn't pinpoint any locality in the county which is hard hit by poverty.

But Attorney Russell Mervine is more articulate. He declared, "Sure there's poverty but there's poverty everywhere. In Monroe it isn't as bad as it is in Wilkes-Barre or Scranton."

Pipher said the county board is cooperating as much as possible with any move to get more industry in Monroe County.

"If you want the real story on poverty, you'd better see Ray Saunders," Pipher said.

We did. That's our next article.

Coin-Happy Collectors Perplex U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is missing out on a multi-million-dollar bonanza because it can't mint new coins fast enough to meet the demand.

An estimated 8 million orders for "proof sets"—91 cents worth of coins selling for $2.10 — and "mint sets"—$1.82 worth selling for $2.40—remain unfilled.

The 91-cent packet, wrapped in plastic, includes a shiny new half-dollar, quarter, dime, nickel and penny. The $2.40 packet contains two of each coin, one each from the Philadelphia and Denver mints.

Eva Adams, director of the mint, said Tuesday that no new orders on the $2.10 packet will be taken until November, if then. The $2.40 packet will not go on sale again before next May.

Miss Adams said nearly 4 million orders of up to 100 sets each were accepted between Nov. 1 last year, when they first went on sale, and Jan. 10.

In mid-March, 400,000 additional sets were gobbled up in just a day or two. These additional sets were put together by cutting the orders of 100 sets each down to 75.

Danes Probe Khrushchev Kidnap Plot

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and top Swedish leaders began official business talks Tuesday behind a taut security screen.

The Soviet leader and Premier Tage Erlander discussed world problems in a three-hour session in Erlander's office.

Swedish police interrogated a 30-year-old foreigner arrested Monday on suspicion of "preparing dangerous activities." Swedish newspaper reports said the man was part of a group that planned to kidnap Khrushchev.

Police Supt. Aake Magnusson termed reports of machine guns "a dreamed up story."

"The possibility that the whole affair has an innocent character should not be discounted," he said.

Security forces guarding Khrushchev appeared to be even more on the alert than whole affair has an innocent character should not be discounted," he said.

Two special commando units of 12 men each were added to the forces guarding suburban Haga Palace, where Khrushchev is staying.

Lodge Quits Viet Nam To Work For Scranton

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge said he resigned as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam "because I believe it is my duty to do everything I can to help Gov. Scranton to win for president."

Lodge is joining forces with Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton and others seeking to block Sen. Barry Goldwater, the frontrunner, from nailing down the Republican nomination in San Francisco next month.

At Convention
Lodge said he has accepted an invitation to address the committee preparing resolutions for the national convention.

His statement Tuesday did not say just when he would leave Saigon, but President Johnson said in Washington he understood Lodge would be home this weekend. Lodge's successor, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, expects to come to Saigon in 10 days or two weeks.

"I have enjoyed my service here," Lodge said. "Truly, it makes us sad to leave."

He expressed belief that "Viet Nam is on the right track and, with persistence, its freedom and independence will surely be achieved."

10 Month Duty
He has been ambassador 10 months.

Politics was on his mind during a trip he made Tuesday with Premier Nguyen Khanh Tra Vinh, a provincial capital in the Mekong River delta.

He was heard to remark while at lunch that he felt the possibility of Goldwater's nomination was extremely dangerous to the Republican party.

He had notified the State Department last Friday that he wanted to be released as quickly as possible from the post to which he was assigned by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Lodge was the Republican candidate for vice president on the ticket with Richard M. Nixon four years ago.

Although not a declared candidate for president this year, he won the New Hampshire preferential contest in March.

Last week, Lodge said he had not intended of attending this year's GOP convention. Eight days ago he denied a report he was resigning as ambassador on ground of poor health.

"I'm supposed to be sick, am I?" he said jokingly after swimming 10 lengths in a Saigon pool.

Accepting the resignation "with deep regret," Johnson's letter, dated Tuesday expressed "best personal wishes," and applauded Lodge's performance "in the great tradition of disinterested public service."

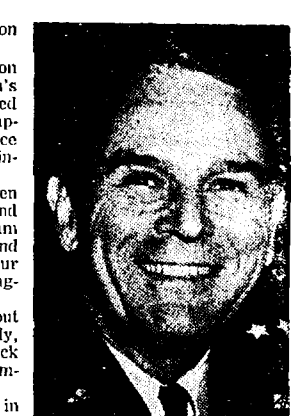

The President told newsmen that he believes Red China and Communist North Viet Nam "are aware of our attitude, and they have no doubt about our policy" to resist Communist aggression.

Johnson ducked queries about what Lodge plans politically, noting that Lodge will be back shortly and can speak for himself.

Lodge as U.S. Ambassador in Saigon has been the Kingpin in the American organization since he took the job almost a year ago.

President Johnson and his aides had known since early this year that Lodge might feel he would have to come home to join in the Republican political campaign.

When he appeared to be a strong contender for the presidential nomination, Johnson gave him a free hand to decide whether and when he would move.

Taylor Gets Saigon Post

Lodge Move 'Delights' Scranton

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, heartened by the personal backing of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination, sought Tuesday night to win New Jersey's 40 delegate votes to his cause.

Scranton told a $100-a-plate GOP dinner that Republicans must offer a campaign "that speaks for all Republicans who favor a new start on the problems of present-day America."

Scranton, in his second full week of campaigning to win delegate votes for next month's Republican national convention in San Francisco, is seeking to overtake U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Scranton told a news conference in Wilmington, Del., early in the day, that he was "delighted" at Lodge's plan to return from Viet Nam to work on his behalf.

At a news conference in Newark before his speech, Scranton termed Lodge's support "a tremendous step forward" for his campaign.

"I have a high regard for him," he said, adding: "This is another big boost for this rapidly expanding campaign."

Scranton said he would "be delighted to have him give me a great deal of advice." However, he said he did not expect to make Lodge his campaign manager.

Scranton said he hoped to have Lodge "go around and tell the people why they should be for me."

"After more than 30 years as the American majority party, the Democratic Party has failed to solve the problems of our cities, and it is bound to its past failures," Scranton said in his speech.

He proposed the initials "L.B.J." as a rallying cry for the GOP. Scranton declared: "L.B.J.—Let's Beat Johnson."

At the news conference, Scranton, answering a question about possible support from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said:

"There is a possibility he may come out for me . . . In politics almost anything can happen."

Scranton met with the New Jersey convention delegates this afternoon.

The delegation "voted overwhelmingly to stay uncommitted until we have another delegation meeting," GOP State Chairman Webster B. Todd said. Earlier U.S. Sen. Clifford P. Case gave his support to Scranton.

Key Military-Diplomatic Team Assigned To Saigon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson announced Tuesday he is dispatching to South Viet Nam a powerhouse combination of military and diplomatic talent. Its task is to turn the tide of battle against the Communists in Southeast Asia.

Johnson accepted the resignation of Henry Cabot Lodge as ambassador to Saigon, and named Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, to succeed him.

Johnson told a news conference he will name a career diplomat, Deputy Undersecretary of State U. Alexis Johnson, to a new post of deputy ambassador to assist Taylor.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, 66, was named to succeed Taylor as joint chiefs chairman. Wheeler has been Army chief of staff. His successor in that post was not announced.

Johnson's move is the latest in a series of developments stemming from a basic administration decision to prevent the North Vietnamese Communists, backed by Red China, from overrunning Southeast Asia — even if this entails a risk of war with China.

Top administration spokesmen have declared that new measures were under consideration and have not denied that these included possible direct attacks on North Viet Nam and possible introduction of U.S. troops through Thailand into Laos.

In Bangkok, Thailand, two U.S. Navy ships, loaded with military equipment for American stockpiles docked Tuesday night. Four more ships were scheduled to follow the two ships — landing ships tank — and were reported to be carrying trucks, armored personnel carriers, communications and construction equipment and ammunition.

The 66-year-old pontiff said the birth control question was "under study, as broadly and profoundly as possible" in the light of "both theoretic and practical developments."

He said the study was being made "with the collaboration of many illustrious experts" and that he hoped to be able to make the conclusions public soon.

"But let us say frankly that we have not yet sufficient reasons to consider overruling, and therefore not obligatory, the rules given by Pope Pius XII in this connection," Pope Paul said. "They must therefore be considered valid, at least for so long as we do not feel in conscience obliged to modify them."

Pope Pius XII in 1951 reaffirmed Roman Catholic opposition to contraceptives. In 1958 he spoke of pills, saying a woman might use them to check uterine ailments if not done with the intent to prevent fecundation, even if that may be a temporary result.

In a major speech Tuesday, a year and two days after he became Roman Catholic ruler, he made his first pronouncement in a growing debate among some Roman Catholics about the use of new birth control methods.

Johnson Aid Sought
The parents of two of the missing trio called on Johnson Tuesday and were assured the government is doing everything in its power to locate the young men.

After Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodman and Nathan Schwerner of New York had left the White House, press secretary George Reedy told newsmen the President spoke with them.

At Jackson, Gov. Paul Johnson pledged the state would search unrelentingly for the trio, Johnson said the station wagon was still burning when found.

Before discovery of the car, Goodman's mother had said in New York that she was very frightened.

235th Yank Dies in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A U.S. Army officer died Tuesday after his plane crashed on a reconnaissance mission as South Vietnamese forces reportedly scored new victories against the Communist Viet Cong in an area where another American died and two are believed captured.

He was the 235th U.S. serviceman to die in combat or otherwise since major U.S. military involvement began in 1961.

The Mohawk plane, equipped with twin turbine engines, cameras, machine guns and rocket pods, crashed shortly after take-off in rugged terrain 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

The pilot had just taken off from an airstrip.

Attorneys Push Court Reform

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Bar Association avowedly intends to press its fight for judicial reform.

President C. Brewster Rhoads said Tuesday the legislature's rejection of constitutional reform proposals, including a general overhaul of the state court system, "has not changed our program one whit." He added: "We know it is a long, hard road—we'll just put new wheels on the wagon."

Rhoads made his comment as the association got ready for its summer meeting in Erie starting Wednesday. One of the undertakings at the meeting will be the establishment of a special operations committee to strive for improvement in the court setup.

Rhoads said the committee's objective will be to arrange for meetings, forums and seminars at local levels so that "the people of this state may know that the seeming lack of political interest in our association-sponsored new judiciary article does not mean that we have folded up our tents or have admitted defeat."

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The owners of a mine near Shepton, Pa., were ordered Monday to begin excavation for the body of Louis Bova, entombed since the cave-in of last August.

David Fellin and Eugene Gibbons last January had presented a plan for the recovery of the body. The Department of Mines petitioned because the project had not been started.

Judge James J. Curran ordered Gibbons and Fellin to send equipment to the scene and determine the feasibility of the plan.

Rescuers saved Fellin after the accident by sinking a shaft to the small chamber where he was trapped. Bova, however, could not be found.

State's Loyalty Oath Called OK

HARRISBURG (AP) — The state Justice Department said this week a U. S. Supreme Court decision against loyalty oaths in the state of Washington has no applicability in Pennsylvania.

The Supreme Court held June 1 that the Washington oaths were vague and obscure as to what is disloyal and subversive.

"Our oath is very simple and very clear," said First Deputy Atty. Gen. Edward Freidman. "There is no application to the Supreme Court decision here."

"Any person taking our oath knows exactly what he is swearing to," he added.

Scranton Pushers Still Optimistic

By JOSEPH R. COVNE
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three top congressional supporters of Gov. William W. Scranton were cautious but optimistic yesterday that the Pennsylvania could grab the GOP presidential nomination from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

"I can't tell whether he'll be successful yet," Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), said in an interview, "but we have many things moving in many states. There is a clear softening process occurring among the convention delegates."

By softening, Scott made it clear he meant delegates who are leaning toward Goldwater as their nominee.

Rep. Robert J. Corbett, R-Pa., said the key to Scranton's success in his belated drive for the nomination is whether he can evade Goldwater support in the Midwest.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., said if Scranton wins a minimum shift of 50 delegates who now lean toward Goldwater, "he might be able to pull it off."

"He went into this knowing it would be an uphill struggle and we all recognize this," Schweiker said. His sentiments were echoed by Scott and Corbett.

Schweiker said Scranton forces have had definite indications of shifts in delegate support in the Midwest but he refused to pinpoint them for fear of countermoves by Goldwater forces.

World Fair Clients Balk At $17.60 Hour Plumbers

NEW YORK (AP) — World's Fair officials will tackle Wednesday an international housekeeping problem—the cost of maintaining displays at the billion-dollar exposition.

The fair's board of directors set the special meeting rather than air complaints of high maintenance costs during a regular meeting.

Some exhibitors from faraway lands have charged that maintenance costs were so high they were being driven to bankruptcy. Others have threatened to close their exhibits at the end of the first season if costs are not pared.

Among those who said they would pack up and leave the fair at the end of the first year were operators of the Sierra Leone and Malaysian pavilions.

Allied Maintenance, which handles the fair's housekeeping chores, charges rates ranging from as high as $8.70 an hour for unskilled labor to $17.60 an hour for plumbers.

A spokesman for Allied said the high rates charged for maintenance were made only when men called from an emergency pool to do the job.

Daniel Fraad Jr., Allied president, issued a statement in which he cited the high cost of maintaining the emergency pool and contended the firm was losing money on that phase of its operation.

"The prices for carpenters, plumbers and other tradesmen primarily result from the unproductive, idle time required to furnish an on-call emergency manpower pool," he said.

The company president said many times a workman and his tools and equipment are carried to and from jobs in a truck driven by Teamsters Union members and on some occasions Teamsters driver-helpers are assigned to the truck.

He said this was in agreement with union regulations regarding the movement of materials.

Snavely Wins Round In Dog Case

LEBANON, Pa. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Alvin Lewis Jr., agreed at a hearing Monday that James N. Snavely, an opponent of Bible reading in the local schools, was arrested illegally last Feb. 14 on charges of not licensing his dogs.

The Lebanon County prosecutor added, however, that the illegality of the arrest does "not necessarily nullify the proceeding against Mr. Snavely," who paid $53 in fines and costs.

Common Pleas Judge G. Thomas Gates presided over the hearing at which counsel for Snavely contended he was acting under duress when he paid the fine to a justice of the peace.

The record shows, Lewis said, that Snavely paid fines and costs "voluntarily" when he was brought before Justice of the Peace Mary Spallone in Swatara Twp.

Snavely, who has filed suit in federal court against Bible reading in schools of the Cornwall-Lebanon joint suburban system, has said his arrest constituted "harrassment" for his stand.

He did not appear at Monday's hearing.

Lewis reiterated at the hearing that Snavely's arrest was an "illegal procedure," that this was borne out of inquiries ordered by State Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandrini.

Eminent Domain Okayed Project 70 Now State Law

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton signed two of his administration's major pieces of legislation into law Tuesday — enabling legislation for Project 70 and eminent domain revision.

The governor put his signature to the measures before departing for more campaigning in his belated bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Project 70 measure, implementing the state's $70 million open space and recreation program approved in a special referendum last November, is effective immediately.

The program was proposed three years ago by former Gov. David L. Lawrence, a Democrat to purchase land for future recreation use before it was absorbed by expanding cities and suburbs.

Land acquisition under the program is scheduled to be completed by 1970.

The program earmarks $40 million for acquisition, $20 million as matching grants for development of local parks and $10 million for new hunting and fishing sites.

The administration's eminent domain program, effective Sept. 1, is aimed at assuring property owners of speedy settlement for land seized by the state for public purposes.

The main provision guarantees that any public or private agency, with the exception of the state Highways Department, must pay landowners 100 percent of the estimated value of property within 60 days after filing a declaration of condemnation.

The new law also provides for payment of moving expenses for owners and tenants forced out by property seizures.

Another major feature would require the state for the first time to pay businessmen up to $5,000 for loss of "good will" of established customers.

Scranton also signed a companion measure to his unemployment compensation program which had been approved earlier this year after a heated battle within the legislature.

The bill makes changes in administrative procedures under the state's U.C. law.

Other bills signed:

- Imposes a 6 per cent tax on earnings of institutions such as mutual savings banks, building and loan associations and savings and loan associations.
- Clarifies the method for taxing mutual funds.
- Eliminates certain deductions from the corporate net income tax act for an amount equal to the credit allowed toward the federal income tax for investment and depreciated property.

Grivas' presence on the island, if confirmed, would serve to harden Greek Cypriot wing which demands a policy of union with Greece instead of self-determination.

Where's the cash? — A House Government Operations subcommittee will begin hearings June 30 into what its chairman, Rep. Dante B. Fascell, D-Fla., describes as a "drastic coin shortage."

Fascell, in announcing the hearings Monday, said a shortage of coins is seriously hampering business throughout the nation and federal reserve banks are sometimes finding it difficult to meet the needs of commercial banks for coins.

Enactment of the civil rights bill will be followed by an accelerated drive for Negro equality in the spirit of "true militant responsibility" but not "reckless adventurism" Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP said this week.

See you at the party.

Stroudsburg To Get U. S. Planning Aid

STROUDSBURG — U. S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney announced yesterday the Federal Urban Renewal Administration approved a $16,556 grant to the Stroudsburg Planning Commission to help finance a $24,895 comprehensive plan and related 20-year capital improvement study.

The remaining money—$8,283—has been authorized by Stroudsburg Borough Council and is included in the 1964-65 budget.

The commission has chosen Candebur, Cabot and Associates of Scranton to compile the plan—which will take two years to complete. Candebur drew up a similar plan for East Stroudsburg.

Robert Pinder, commission chairman, said the commission will meet with borough council July 20 to sign contracts with the Scranton firm.

Future Development

R. M. Hoot, commission secretary, said the plan will include a study of existing borough conditions, plans for future development and a plan implementation schedule.

Hoot said the goals of a comprehensive plan are to protect the health, safety, morals and welfare of the borough.

He said a zoning ordinance will be considered after the comprehensive plan is completed.

He explained adoption of the plan, zoning ordinance and various codes is necessary before the borough can qualify for federal grants for urban renewal projects.

The commission has discussed the possibility of a renewal project in the Stifflet St. area.

Hoot said only a small amount of land in the borough remains for commercial development and zoning will be required to relieve this condition.

Light Industry

He said the commission wants light industry and business to locate in Stroudsburg and land will have to be made available.

He said the commission does not want large or heavy industry for the borough "rather something like the home office of an insurance company."

The planning grant was also announced yesterday by Sen. Joseph S. Clark and was made available under the Federal Housing Act of 1954.

All federal planning grants in the state are administered by the state Dept. of Commerce.

Other federal grants to Pennsylvania yesterday went to:

Easton—A $1,371,339 urban renewal administration grant for work on a 14-acre Lehigh-Washington St. urban renewal project.

Rochester—A $967,326 urban renewal administration grant for work on a 13-acre urban renewal project.

Luzerne County — A $176,000 Community Facilities Administration loan to help the Wyoming Valley Sanitary Authority plan sewage systems to cost $20 million. Construction is scheduled to begin in 1966.

Stroud Planners To Inform Public

CLEARVIEW — The Stroud Township Planning Commission has dedicated itself to keeping township residents informed of all progress and decisions the commission makes.

The commission—re-activated in January—met in the municipal building yesterday and heard Edward Sites, planning consultant for the Pennsylvania

Dept. of Commerce, outline the need for a township comprehensive plan and long range capital improvement program.

1960 Mistake

Stanley Grace, acting chairman of the commission, said the new commission is not going to make the same mistake the old commission made when it waited until the last minute to inform the people of a zoning ordinance drawn up for the township.

In 1960 residents signed a petition protesting a proposed zoning and building ordinance and were successful in stopping it. Grace said all commission meetings will be open to the public and the press and important meetings will be held at a convenient evening hour.

Sites told the commission zoning is impractical without a comprehensive long range planning program.

He said the comprehensive plan would be a "study of land, finances and people . . . to see what exists in the township and plot future growth."

Consultant Needed

Sites said a professional planning consultant must be hired by the township if a comprehensive plan is desired. None now exists.

He told the commission three professional planning firms should be interviewed and the commission's recommendation forwarded to the Department of Commerce for approval.

Grace said the commission will do the interviewing in the near future and then meet with the board of supervisors and discuss the cost involved in a comprehensive plan.

Sites said the township will qualify for a federal grant of two-thirds costs of the overall project, with the township paying the other one-third.

Sites agreed with the commission that it is vitally important to a successful planning program to keep the public fully informed.

Members of the commission, in addition to Grace, are Joseph Ridgeway, Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Douglas Keough and Ted Kirk.

Pen Argyl Salary Scale A Secret

PEN ARGYL — The interim operating committee of Pen Argyl School District last night approved a personnel salary schedule after a 25-minute executive session, but kept it secret.

A Daily Record reporter asked the committee for a copy of the schedule and was refused.

James Tinney, president of the committee said, "It is not the policy of the board to release this information to the public."

In other business the committee awarded contracts, hired six teachers, and approved the school calendar for the 1964-65 school year.

Lim's Quality Sports Shop of Stroudsburg was awarded a contract for athletic equipment at a low bid of $2,052 on 46 items.

New Teachers

The following were hired as teachers:

—Thoburn E. Cassidy as a teacher in the fine arts department at a starting salary of $6,900 per year.

—Miss Carole DeFrancisco as a teacher in the business education department at a starting salary of $4,700 per year.

—J. Roland Mowery as a teacher in the science department at a salary of $5,000 per year.

—Miss Agnes C. Anderson as a teacher in the mathematics department at a salary of $5,900 per year.

—Miss Joanne Shankweiler as a teacher in the science department at a salary of $4,700.

—Miss Linda B. Young as an elementary librarian at a salary of $4,700 per year.

SCRANTON — New trial motions scheduled Tuesday for a former Pennsylvania National Guard master sergeant found guilty on three of six counts of mail fraud by a federal jury March 7, 1963, have been continued indefinitely.

The new trial is sought for Robert E. Schoonover, 42, of East Stroudsburg, who was found guilty in connection with payroll irregularities in a National Guard Co. in East Stroudsburg in which he was a non-commissioned officer.

Attorney Edwin Krawitz, of Stroudsburg, counsel for Schoonover, said the continuance developed because the trial transcript has not yet been completed by the court stenographer.

Until this is done, Krawitz contended, it is virtually impossible to prepare a brief of arguments on the motion for a new trial. Assistant U. S. Attorney Carlton M. O'Malley, Jr., is the government prosecutor.

EFFORT BARN TOTAL LOSS — Firemen from the West End Fire Co. in Brodheadsville yesterday battled a blaze at the barn of Walter Gould in Effort. Firemen saved nearby buildings and silo but were called too late to save the barn. The loss is estimated by Gould at more than $10,000. (Staff Photo by Shafer)

Effort Barn Fire Loss Over $40,000

EFFORT — Fire of undetermined origin yesterday completely destroyed a barn and some equipment owned by Walter Gould of Effort.

Gould placed loss of the barn and equipment at "more than $40,000."

Joseph DeHaven, assistant fire chief of the West End Fire Co. of Brodheadsville said, "We were called about 3:30 p.m. and arrived at the scene about 3:45 p.m. When we arrived, the entire barn lay burning on what was the ground floor of the two-floor barn."

"We ran more than 1,800 feet of 2½ inch hose from a pumper stationed at a small pond nearby. We then began wetting down the entire area," DeHaven added.

Trace of Smoke

Gould said, "I drove the tractor into the ground floor section, where I kept the manure spreader. I happened to look up and saw just a faint trace of smoke coming through from the floor above."

"I dropped the pin in the tractor and pulled the spreader from the barn. I then went back to get my truck out. I don't remember if I ran to pull the main electric switch, or if I went to get the animals out of the barn. I do remember calling my wife and telling her to call the fire company," he said.

Mrs. Gould was on the back porch of the family house about 60 feet away.

"When I pulled the spreader from the barn, I heard a sound resembling a roaring noise, and then the entire barn seemed to belch smoke and fire," Gould said.

Animals Saved

He continued, "I ran around and got the two cows out of the barn. I then got the calves out. I think there were six or seven in the barn at the time. . . . Anyhow, if there were seven, I got six out and the other one is still in there, but if there were only six in there, I got them all," he added.

"Right now, I couldn't tell you what is lost in the fire. It's like asking someone what was in their home after it burned to the ground. I don't think anyone keeps an inventory of everything in their home or barn," he said.

"I know the milk coolers are lost. They were too big for me to move out of the building. Then there was a conveyor, milk cans, and other small things not including the hay and feed in the barn," Gould concluded.

Heat from the fire was so intense that it scorched the wood siding of another small barn about 50 feet away from the main barn. The heat also ignited grass more than 40 feet from the barn.

DeHaven said the firemen set up their lines to wet down the entire area to prevent the fire from spreading to other buildings nearby.

"We will not be here all night, but we will stay here until everything is good and wet, and we are sure the fire will not erupt again. We will return tomorrow to start our investigation into the cause of the blaze," DeHaven said.

Pleads Guilty Of Bad Checks

STROUDSBURG Elmer A. Gaskins, 39, of 621 Main St., Stroudsburg Tuesday was charged with issuing three worthless checks for a total of $35 on June 6, 7 and 8 to the Rea & Derick Drug Store at 578 Main St., Stroudsburg.

Gaskins pleaded guilty to the check charge at a hearing Tuesday before Justice of the Peace John C. F. Foelker of Stroudsburg. He told Foelker that he never had an account in a bank.

A detainer against Gaskins was issued by Foelker June 20. He was committed to the Monroe County Jail June 12 for 30 days on a charge of disorderly conduct. Reportedly there are other outstanding checks.

It makes your house look bigger.

Cars are getting to be bigger, so houses are getting to look smaller. But one little Volkswagen can put everything back in its proper perspective. A VW parked in front does big things for your house. And your garage. To say nothing of small parking spots.

On the other hand, a VW does make some things smaller. Gas bills, for instance. At 32 mpg, they may be half what you pay now. You'll probably never add oil between changes. You'll certainly never need anti-freeze. Tires go 40,000 miles. And even insurance costs less.

One thing you'd think might be smaller in a Volkswagen is the inside. But there's as much legroom in front of a VW as in the biggest cars.

When you think about it, you really have only two choices. You can buy a bigger house for which you know how much. Or a Volkswagen for • $1,595.00.

Party And Principle

It is very difficult for Americans to believe that Governor William Scranton entered the race for the Republican Presidential nomination mainly because he was concerned about the Republican party and the principles for which it stands.

This is a difficult proposition to swallow in a land where unlimited personal ambition and success in public life are the motivating forces behind most politicians.

Nevertheless, Governor Scranton's words, actions and timing, and the almost hopeless situation which he faces argue for taking his explanation at face value.

According to Scranton's testimony, this is the story:

He did not want to campaign for the Republican nomination or for the Presidency. He said he would do so only if he received "a pure and honest draft"—something he never expected and never got. He was not "stirred up" about the issues.

Only when the stop-Goldwater movement fizzled after the Arizona Senator's victory in California and the draft-Scranton boom fizzled at the Cleveland governor's convention and Goldwater voted against cloture of the civil rights debate in the Senate did Scranton decide on an open declaration of his candidacy.

He got stirred up about the direction of the Republican party, its candidates' fate at the polls, and the fate of the nation with Goldwater as the Republican Presidential candidate fighting the civil rights bill and dividing the Republican party and the nation at a time when both require unity and moderate leadership.

Scranton then declared his candidacy, not when he was assured of the Republican nomination, as he was for governor, but when his chances of winning it were most remote.

He said he really didn't want to run for President. He wished Rockefeller or some other moderate Republican had done better against Goldwater and saved him the trouble of fighting a last ditch anti-Goldwater battle.

The one weakness in his argument—too naive for any to accept—is his repeated statement that he doesn't really want to be President.

Of course he does now, no matter how poor the chances may be of beating both Goldwater and Johnson. If he didn't he could have fired half his staff for their continued campaigning after he publicly asked them to stop.

There is obviously personal ambition in the man Scranton. But it cannot be the major motivating factor in his decision to run for the Presidential nomination when Goldwater seems to have it in the bag.

We doubt that he is bargaining for the vice presidential post. He has said he will not take it unless drafted by the convention. He has said he will not accept if hand-picked by the Presidential nominee.

His "pure and honest draft" requirement has vanished once already, but the chances of Goldwater wanting or accepting Scranton have disappeared with his sharp attack on the senator's courage and beliefs.

In addition, Scranton doesn't need a job right now. He has two more years as governor and could run for national office in 1968 with better chances of winning than he does in 1964 against the Johnson administration.

He has been backed into his present effort to stop Goldwater largely by circumstance—the fact that no other moderate Republican could stop Goldwater and heavy pressure from liberal, industrial state Republicans afraid to run on the same ticket with Goldwater.

The Scranton decision will always remain a mystery.

It has elements of personal ambition to be sure. But the overriding factors in his decision appear to be matters of conscience, dedication to principle and personal sacrifice for the Republican party.

It is difficult to explain on the basis of personal ambition alone.

Comment Of The Day

"I believe it is my duty to do everything I can to help Gov. Scranton to win for President."

—Henry Cabot Lodge explaining his resignation as U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Dwight D. Scrantonwater

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON — I was counting my delegates in a stop Abigail Adams movement this morning when a young woman with the minority group name of Ymelda marched in. She looked as set up as if she had just been voted tops in topless bathing suits.

Being an old fettle man, I inquired why she was in such fine fettle.

"Things are looking better for Gov. Wilkes-Barre," she replied.

I said I couldn't seem to place Gov. Wilkes-Barre.

"I meant Scranton," said Ymelda. "I get things in Pennsylvania mixed up. But I don't want you to place him. That's where most of the handicappers have him now."

"There are some who think he can't win," I said cautiously. "They think he entered too late."

Ymelda said there was still 20 days to post time. She said Scranton and Goldwater might finish in a dead heat.

"Maybe the Republicans could nominate both of them," she said brightly, "and run them against President Johnson as an entry under the stable name of Dwight D. Scrantonwater. Both claim aquatic backgrounds. Scranton's Grandfather used to own the waterworks in Scranton, and Goldwater says he's the mainstream."

"You mean 'in the mainstream' don't you?"

"No, Gov. Rockefeller, former vice president Nixon and ambassador Lodge claim they're in the mainstream. Senator Goldwater says he is the mainstream. He seems to feel his better to be in than it."

"I hear the soup feels the same way," I murmured.

Ymelda said she had just read that a group of young Republican moderates in Pennsylvania see Goldwater as losing 49 states.

"It's too bad he didn't run a hundred years ago," she said. "If he had run in 1864 instead of 1964 he could have lost only 36 states."

I told Ymelda not to plunge herself in sorrow over old regrets.

"He gay?" I counseled her sadly. "Dance a mad minuot to a Goldwater combo, consisting of timbrel, snuckbut and psaltery!"

Ymelda said she didn't think she should take a chance on dancing because she'd been suffering dizzy spells ever since Senator Goldwater announced he was going to vote against civil rights.

"It isn't his announcement of the way he'd vote that throws me off balance," she explained. "I expected that. It's his explanation for his stand that makes me whirl. In one breath he said he would vote against civil rights, and in the next he declared he is unalterably opposed to discrimination and segregation. Isn't that enough to make the mind reel?"

"People ought to be hardened to that sort of thing by now," I said. "Senator Goldwater's statement, when you give it the litmus paper test, is no more polluted than the arguments of the southern anti-civil rights senators. They all swear they're against discrimination too, and want to maintain segregation only because it is in the best interests of the segregated."

"That," cried Ymelda, "makes as much sense as the thing Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana said about negroes: 'They're like sheep. They want to intermarry.' What does Ellender know about the intermarriage desires of sheep?"

"In his self-supplied biography in the congressional directory," I said. "Ellender identifies himself as a farmer."

"I still don't think he knows," said Ymelda stubbornly. "Now, what do you think?"

"I think I have enough votes on the first ballot to stop Abigail Adams," I said.

Later when the rate was lowered a 16-cent stamp was released, and at the end of the year the third stamp, a six-cent value was issued.

This service was flown by Army pilots in Army planes. The planes pictured on these stamps were "Jennies" the name coming from their official designation which began with the initials JN.

This was the set in which the famous 24-cent inverted airplane was made. The second air mail set was issued in 1923 with eight, 16 and 24-cent values.

The eight and 16 showed a propeller and radiator of a plane and the 24 a Dellaviland biplane.

No official meeting, but trading sessions are held on Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m.

It is astonishing how little one feels poverty when one loves—Butler.

Hard-Blitten Cash

A seven year old boy walked into a bank to open an account with $50. The teller smiled and asked him how he had accumulated so much money.

"Selling flower seeds," said the little boy. "Well, obviously you've sold them to a lot of people." "Nope," said the lad proudly. "I sold all of them to one family. Their dog bit me."

The Pennsylvania Story

Scranton's Jibes At Barry

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — A bit of an air of uneasiness and nervous concern has been growing among some Pennsylvania backers of the Scranton-for-President movement.

The concern centers around Mr. Scranton's somewhat outspoken comments regarding his opponent of the moment, Arizona Senator Barry Goldwater, who up to this point at least already would appear to have the GOP presidential nod locked.

On different occasions in recent days Mr. Scranton has let fly various barbs in the Goldwater direction that have chilled the soup on some of the Scrantonian tables.

It is this that is causing the air of apprehension.

For example, it will be recalled that during the past week he initially raised the question of Senator Goldwater's "courage" (personal courage, that is) in declining to debate with him on radio and television.

He later recanted on this position, declaring that the use of the term was "ill advised" — but nevertheless, in the view of some of his staunchest backers, the "damage" has been done.

Similarly during the past week his flat and direct opposition to the Goldwater stand on the civil rights bill expressed in his telegram urging the Arizona senator to vote for instead of against the pending legislation sizzled the gills of some of the Scranton brethren. This coupled with a series of acid remarks on the campaign trail tossed in the Goldwater direction has caused some heavy squirming among a number of his more ardent backers.

Reason for this concern is perhaps understandable, at least from their viewpoint.

To begin with they are confident they have a good thing going for them (and the Republican Party in general) in the candidacy possibility of William Warren Scranton.

A presidential nod at the convention next month would ice their cake to a fare-thee-well — particularly in the Keystone State with this fall's heavy-handed legislative-congressional elections on the agenda.

However their concern and outlook goes somewhat beyond that.

They see in Mr. Scranton a logical choice for the number two spot on the Republican ticket this fall — if he fails to make the grade on the top slot — and with such a position Pennsylvania's GOP chances in November would be tremendously enhanced, to say the least.

Mr. Goldwater in warmer times has freely admitted the fact that Mr. Scranton as a running-mate would be somewhat more than acceptable to him.

However the Goldwater snaps on the part of Mr. Scranton have done nothing to build any great degree of solidarity between the two potentials — and some of the Keystone State GOPsters feel could go a long way toward making it impossible for Mr. Scranton to even make second base in the showdown.

There are those who feel, certainly not without some justification, that should the Governor continue his on-the-other-side-of-the-fence tactics and pronouncements, a Scranton second position would be all but untenable from a politically expedient standpoint and flatly ruled out in a showdown — if the in-opposition tactics continue.

If the presidential nod is not in the offing, his strategists would like to see him in the vice-presidential slot at least — from a politically expedient campaign standpoint. You just don't have two candidates who flatly fail to see eye-to-eye or who have clobbered each other.

As one expressed it: "It's just too much ready made campaign meat for the opposition!"

Editor, The Daily Record:

I appreciated the Daily Record's coverage of the School Assembly honoring Miss Edna Eife, Barrett School principal, which was given on such short notice, due to the little time available between the events which prompted it and the closing of the school year.

I think attention should be called to two facts, however, which could be misinterpreted if not clarified.

One is the fact that more than eight mothers attended, as the heading of the article infers.

They may have acted as a sponsoring committee of the assembly, but the attendance at the assembly was commendable in view of the short notice given.

The other fact, I think, is even more important, because it deals with the qualifications of the individual honored.

The article mentions Miss Eife's B.S. Degree received from East Stroudsburg State College, but inadvertently failed to mention the Masters Degree she received at Lehigh University or the years of graduate study at the University of Colorado.

The Allen-Scott Report

U. S. Kow Tows

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — There is apparently no limit to State Department kow-towing to President Gamal Nasser.

Latest instance of this constant trucking to the war-battering Egyptian dictator is the Department's strenuous balking at the sale on the world market of thousands of bales of government-owned surplus extra long staple cotton — which would net the Treasury a profit of around $25 million, and save taxpayers many more millions in storage charges.

Sole reason for this extraordinary State Department obstructionism is to keep this U. S. cotton "out of the export market so that prices will remain at high levels" — for the benefit of Nasser, as well as Peru and Sudan, the other two principal exporters of this type of cotton.

That's the flat charge of Representative Thomas Morris, D-N. M., who is spearheading a militant drive against the State Department's policy.

"The Department's opposition is consistent with its past practices of being willing to sacrifice American interests for the sake of foreign countries," asserted Morris. "In this instance its opposition is particularly difficult to justify as the United Arab Republic is certainly not among this country's best friends, although it is a big beneficiary of our foreign aid."

"Without the tens of millions of dollars of surplus grain we have 'sold' the U. A. R. in recent years, for its own currency which stays there and we can't use, there would be real famine there. In addition, we have granted more tens of millions to Nasser in loans at 1/4 of one per cent interest."

Against this background, Morris vehemently declared he was utterly unable to understand "why this country should subordinate its policy to the self-serving interests of the U. A. R."

"Why should American farmers not be permitted to supply a demand outside of our country which is not being met from other sources?" demanded Morris. "What possible reason can be advanced for refusing to permit importing countries to buy surplus American stocks for dollars when supplies from elsewhere are unavailable?"

Pointing out that one of the serious financial problems facing the U. S. is the persistent balance-of-payments deficit, Morris contended the sale of the surplus extra long staple cotton would importantly contribute to offsetting this deficit.

"Not only would the export of this cotton yield the Treasury upwards of $25 million in foreign exchange, so vital to our international balance-of-payments position," said Morris, "but also save the government what it costs to store this cotton for three years."

"Our growers urgently favor the sale of this surplus cotton. Foreign buyers are clamoring for it. It would net the government a handsome profit and save taxpayers millions in storage costs. There is every reason why this cotton should be sold. Only the State Department is balking at it—in line with its policy of constant trucking to Nasser."

SERIOUS COMPROMISE — Under Representative Morris' militant lambasting and a storm of protests from cotton growers, the State Department has proposed a so-called "compromise."

Characteristic of the Department, this scheme seemingly does something but actually doesn't.

In effect, what the "compromise" amounts to is that while it offers to clear the way for export sales of the surplus, extra long staple cotton, actually the door is open only a crack—if that much!

Under this backstage deal, the Commodity Credit Corporation would be authorized to sell abroad the more than 150,000 (500-lb.) bales of this government-owned cotton at a minimum of 49 cents a lb.—the current support (loan) price to farmers.

The joker is that the world price is around 42 cents a lb. In other words, the U. S. cotton would still be at a competitive disadvantage; the 49 cents a lb. minimum would be a crippling damper on sales. The only prospect for large-scale sales would be a rise in the world market price—a distinct gamble.

This backstage "compromise," concocted by the State Department, is now pending in the White House for President Johnson's approval.

The chances are strong he will okay it.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has some $50 million invested in this cotton in price supports ranging from 53 to 49 cents a lb. Most of the cotton is grown in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas. To meet foreign competition on this select grade cotton, U. S. growers have twice obtained congressional approval to cut price supports.

As a result of these and other efforts, U. S. consumption of this cotton has more than doubled in the past five years.

Due to rising world demand and supply shortages abroad, prices have soared. In the past year, the U. A. R. has raised its export prices twelve times, and Peru and the Sudan have hiked certain of their grades 50 per cent. The prospects are for continued tight supplies outside the U. S.

Mrs. Ziegler is very enthusiastic about the cleanliness of electric heat. She's found draperies and painted walls stay bright and attractive, with less work for her.

Accurate, room-by-room temperature control enables the Zieglers to keep the children's bedrooms slightly warmer than other rooms. There are no chilly floors or drafty corners.

Just set it and forget it—that's all you have to do with flameless electric heat. As the Zieglers say, "We wanted a heat with a minimum of upkeep." Electric heat is the ideal answer.

The Zieglers agree that safe, comfortable electric heat is especially desirable for the sake of the children—Bonnie and Kathy.

"Flameless ELECTRIC HEAT has thermostats in each room—very important with children"

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Ziegler of Palmyra feel that electric heating was a wise choice

"The heat is always there when needed... a flick of the thermostat takes dampness out of our home in a few minutes," say Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler. Like many other parents, they consider this gentle, even heat very important for their children's comfort.

Mrs. Ziegler adds that "cleanliness is most important to me. I spend less time on cleaning, and so I have more time for other things."

From Mr. Ziegler's viewpoint, safety is one big benefit of flameless electric heat. He's also pleased because the absence of furnace and fuel storage space provides for a basement recreation room.

There are now more than 2300 electrically heated homes in this area. These families, like the Zieglers, have discovered this modern heating method is well-suited to their needs. If you are planning to buy, build, remodel or replace your present heating system, you'll find it worthwhile to get the full story on flameless electric heat. ### 3 Youths In Stolen Car Crack Up

PEN ARGYL — Three juveniles are in Warren Hospital, Phillipsburg, N.J., from injuries received when the stolen car they were driving crashed head-on yesterday into a telephone pole in Pen Argyl, Pen Argyl Police Chief J. Henry Smith said.

Taken to the hospital were William Gilbert, 17, of 418 Williams St., Pen Argyl, with possible internal injuries; William Peters, 16, of 151 Broad St., Phillipsburg, N.J., with a head injury, and a 15-year-old youth from Phillipsburg, N.J., with abrasions.

A hospital spokesman identifying the boys and listing the injuries did not reveal their condition.

Chief Smith gave this account, "It all started this morning at 8:15 a.m. when Alfred Any of Fairview Ave., Wind Gap, reported his car as being taken from its parking place at the Collins and Aikman mill in Pen Argyl.

"About an hour later I was called by the police in Phillipsburg. They told me that they found the stolen car abandoned, and that it was not damaged, just out of gas.

"Then at 11:42 a.m. I was called to the intersection of C and Pen Argyl Streets to investigate a one-car accident. When I arrived Dr. E. M. Brumbaugh was treating the lads. They were loaded into an ambulance and taken to the hospital," Smith continued.

Second Car Stolen
"My investigation shows that the car involved in the crash is also a stolen car. Police in Phillipsburg told me the car was taken from Phillipsburg.

"The investigation, at this point, also shows that the car was driven by the 15-year-old and that he rounded the corner onto Pen Argyl St. and crashed into the telephone pole. He was traveling east at the time of the accident," Smith said.

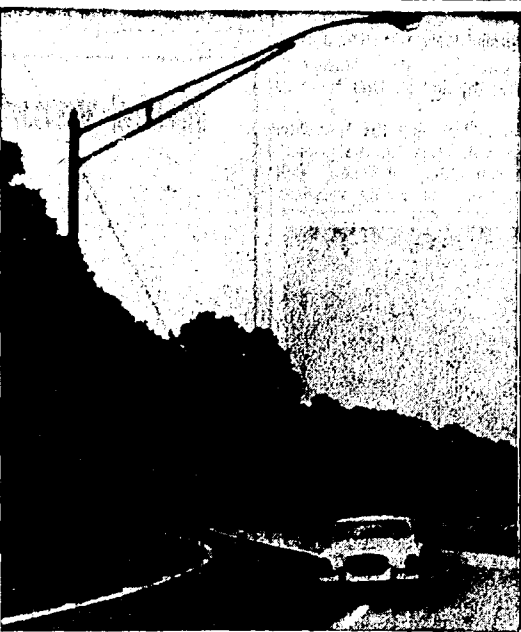

"In view of the fact that two cars were stolen and passed over a state line, the Phillipsburg Police, as well as I, have notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation. What happens now I don't know because all three are juveniles," he concluded.

Police officials in Phillipsburg identified the owners of the stolen car as Ethel and Frank Kleinle of 74 Glen Ave., Phillipsburg, N.J.

They added, "The car was taken from the Ridgeway and Pfeffer garage parking lot."

'Babes In Arms' Seek Lovers

By Charles McNett
Daily Record Reporter

TANNERSVILLE — Before Monday night's opening of "Babes in Arms," this week's offering at Cherry Lane Playhouse, someone jokingly asked producer Rea Hooker, "What part are you playing?"

Hooker wryly replied, "Myself." He did, and displayed a fine sense of comic timing on stage.

He opened the show with "This Is Surf and Sand Playhouse. Seating capacity, 240; average attendance, 14."

Things aren't that bad at Cherry Lane, but the musical comedy playhouse near here has suffered so far this season from a lack of attendance.

Professional Musical
Many people have missed two thoroughly enjoyable, competent professional musical openings.

This week's show by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart stars Joan Kenley, who has appeared in musicals from New York to Hawaii. She performed creditably in two familiar pop tunes from the show, "The Lady Is a Tramp," and "Johnny One Note." In addition, she displayed ability as a comedienne.

Surprise of the show was the appearance of Margo Mason, a Coloradan now living in New York and appearing with the Amato Opera Company there. Until a bit part in last week's "Merry Widow," Miss Mason had never appeared in musical comedy.

She displayed a great warmth of voice and intensity of delivery in "All at Once," "Imagine," and the immortal "My Funny Valentine."

Theatergoers will look forward to seeing more of her as the season progresses.

Where or When
Barbara Cole, as always, showed striking ability in her duet with male lead, Ron Leath,

"Where or When." Director Eugene Harris III skillfully interpolated "Little Girl Blue" to display Miss Cole's singing ability in her role as the perpetual ingenue.

Harris, director and designer of the show, said that the original book, dating from the late 30's, dealt with prohibition and gangsters. In the late 50's, George Oppenheimer redid the book for a show in Miami starring Julie Wilson. Harris uses this latter book in the current offering.

The plot revolves around the revolt of a number of apprentices at a summer stock company against their unfeeling producer (who bears no resemblance to Hooker.) Walter Miller had the role of the loudmouthed producer.

Many Good Songs
The book is thin, and serves merely to give continuity to the songs, of which there are a great many of real merit and continuing popularity. There is a plethora of scenes, each leading up to a song.

The whole work serves as an excellent showcase for the singing talent of this professional summer stock company. In addition, James Cook as Lee Calhoun, a caricature combination of Tennessee Williams and Jack Kerouac, has a devastatingly funny scene.

Calhoun is the egomaniac author of a real dog of a show, which is effectively and humor-ously sabotaged by the rebellious apprentices.

Two real-life apprentices from the local area appear in the show. Adelaide Wolfe of Tannersville, and Hildegard Bauman of Misertown have a great deal of fun playing themselves. Miss Bauman had four lines, three of which drew appreciative laughs.

Stroud Union Drummer Joan Dorneman provided a

Toledo Firm Markets New Detergent

DETERGENT foam belongs in the dishpan — and not in the nation's streams, lakes and ground water supplies. Detergent makers today are racing to correct this condition, by converting production as soon as possible to a new base that won't retain its foaming property after it has gone down the drain.

A major independent maker of detergents in Toledo, Ohio, has now made a complete changeover to this new base, so that its entire output of liquids for dishwashing is biodegradable.

This firm is the 53-year-old Sinclair Manufacturing Co., producers of Coral, Sprite, Debbie, Cindy, Coral, Robin, Capri and many private label detergents to be found on grocers' shelves from the Atlantic to the Rockies, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf.

According to James L. Brown, president, the new formulation results in an improved product that performs equally well in hard or soft water; is milder to the hands than hard detergents; and is offered at no increase in price to the consumer.

Dracket Co. Stock Listed In Exchange

Drackett sales have more than doubled in the last 5 years — from $19,496,000 in fiscal 1958 to $49,470,000 in fiscal 1963. Earnings per share, adjusted for stock splits, have gone from 45 cents to 97 cents in the same period.

For the six months ending March 31 of this year, earnings per share were 50 cents, compared to 40 cents for the same period a year earlier. The company recently split its shares three for two.

Just Between Us —

Changing the living pattern of a community can come about from the most unexpected things. Take the merging of the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg A&P's in the new one on McConnell St.

A housewife going to any new grocery store has to find her way around, but here in addition to the groping for familiar products, there was the added distraction of housewives from Stroudsburg and from East Stroudsburg meeting each other for the first time since the closing May luncheons. Shopping together may do more to bring about consolidation than all the town meetings ever held.

There is, however, a painful side to this. The elderly women without cars who live on Main Street, South Courtland or nearby, are left sort of stranded. The neighborhood grocery is a fast vanishing affair, especially on the main streets.

Older citizens were recalling when they could get their green goods at Tomel's or Coco's Market, their groceries at Miller's or Schellers or the A&P where Miller's was now, at the A&P in the Main Temple, their meat at Drake's all in a few blocks on Main Street. Millers is the only one left.

It does pose a problem, since McConnell Street is hardly safe walking even if they were physically able, and women of that generation somehow regard taxis as an extravagance they couldn't possibly afford.

Speaking of reunions, the guest day at Shawnee provided for some happy reunions, too, since most of the women haven't seen each other since they went into different golfing orbits after the bowling season.

Emma Metzgar and I have something in common. Today, her golf ball went in and stayed in the same pine tree I lost a golf ball in about four years ago. And Betty Bixler was a witness to both impossible situations. Anyway it was fun, and the Hadassah Fashion Show tonight promises to be just another summer reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ivan Fisher

Miss Sylvia Jean Granacher Is Bride of Paul I. Fisher

Stroudsburg — Miss Sylvia Jean Granacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Granacher of 143 Sweet Fern Road, Stroudsburg, was married on June 13 at 2 p.m. at St. John's Lutheran Church, North Ninth St., to Paul Ivan Fisher.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fisher of Stroudsburg RD 2.

Rev. William Leopold performed the double ring ceremony. The altar vases were filled with white carnations, set against a background of greens and a cross formed of laurel blossoms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over bridal tulle. The gondola neckline was trimmed with scallops of corded Venetian lace trimmed with pearls. A princess panel from the bodice to the floor was also trimmed with corded applique, and the bouffant chapel train was caught by a bow at the waistline. She wore a double crown of Venetian lace and pearls with a triple-tiered bouffant veil, and a single strand of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Carol Anderson of 227 Hillcrest Ave., Laurence Harbor, N.J., was matron of honor. She wore a sleeveless street-length dress of mint green nylon over tulle, with a portrait neckline and bell skirt accented with beads. Her forward headpiece was of matching fabric roses and net.

The bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Deats of 603 South Ave., Jim Thorpe and Mrs. Ruth Ann Starnier of 422 Cherokee St., Bethlehem wore similar dresses in pale pink.

All the attendants carried five long-stemmed pink roses, and wore a small cross, the gift of the bride.

Garth Fisher, brother of the bridegroom, served as his best man. Ushers were Larry Starnier, 422 Cherokee St., Bethlehem and Arthur Cox, Stroudsburg RD. They had boutonnières of pink sweetheart roses.

The bride's mother wore a dress of pink lace and georgette with matching hat and gloves with a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Rustine of Stroudsburg RD 3, wore a dress of blue lace with white accessories and a corsage of French white carnations.

A reception for 140 guests was held at the Stroud Twp. Municipal Hall, North Fifth St., Stroudsburg. Music was furnished by the Pocono Playboys. For the dancing the bride wore her train in a bustle.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore a white linen sheath with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and carnations. They spent their wedding night at Mount Airy.

The bride is a graduate of Stroud Union High School in the class of 1964. Her husband, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, is employed by Pone Contracting, Stroudsburg. They are making their home at Stroudsburg RD 5.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Tonight's the night, so chances are a great many women will be reading the Shopper Column as they sit under a dryer, having their locks all sprayed and waved for the annual Wyckoff-Hadassah Fashion Show at Unity House. Sometime today, our professional models will be at Wyckoff's for their fitting, and then, with a few changes here and there, our program will be whipped into shape for what we hope will be a sensationally successful affair.

Pictured above are Joanne Pitzer (center) and Mona Wilush examining some of the attractive casual wear in our Wyckoff sportswear department while Marsha Coates poses prettily in a dressing room doorway. Marsha's suit is by Petti. Joanne's Bermudas and berry-print shirt, and Mona's cute patchwork wrap around skirt are also from Wyckoff's. All three girls will be on the runway tonight at Unity House, during the show which begins at 8:45. Why not come to see them? They'd love it... and so would you.

THE CANTELOUPE is seasonal but the ice cream and butterscotch are go-togethers all year long.

Four Hot-Weather Desserts Let The Cook Keep Cool

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist
Stroudsburg — Do you want something yummy for dessert tonight? The Cantaloupe A La Mode pictured above is not only luscious to eat, it's elegant enough for company. And I'll bet you'll like the butterscotch sauce so much you'll want to save the recipe for year 'round use.

After supper the other night I announced that I was going to try something new for dessert and anyone was welcome to try it if they wanted to. Billy just wrinkled up his nose and said no thanks. He doesn't think much of experiments.

I sliced two thick slices of melon, put a couple of scoops of ice cream on top of each slice and then the sauce. I carried the two plates to the recreation room where Billy and David Wyckoff were playing and asked them if they'd like to try it. Well, maybe, they would, when they saw the ice cream, and then after they tasted it — boy, was that ever good!

It's a nice summertime dessert, why don't you try it? If you don't have a candy thermometer, just cook until it thickens slightly, about 7 to 10 minutes.

Cantaloupe A La Mode
1 pint sweet cream vanilla ice cream
1 cantaloupe, chilled
Butterscotch Sauce
Cut cantaloupe in half and remove seeds. Cut into 1 to 1½ inch slices. If tulip-cut edge is desired, cut cantaloupe in zig-zag fashion. Place cantaloupe slices on individual serving plates. Spoon ice cream into center of each serving. Pour Butterscotch Sauce over all. Makes 4-5 servings.

Butterscotch Sauce
¾ cup sugar
½ cup white corn syrup
1 cup heavy cream (½ pint)
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
Combine all ingredients in a saucepan except the butter. Cook and stir over moderate heat until temperature of 225 degrees F. is reached on a candy thermometer. Add butter and cook until butter melts. Remove from heat immediately. Cool and serve.
Jello, fresh fruit, and purchased sponge cake make this next dessert. It's nice for working girls and those of you who don't like to bake in this heat, but still like to have dessert for your family.

Jellied Fruit Shortcakes
1 regular size package (3 oz.) Jello (any red flavor)
1 cup boiling water
1 cup fruit juice and water
6 individual sponge shortcakes or sponge cake squares
1 cup diced fresh fruit or berries
Dissolve Jell-O in boiling water. Add fruit juice and water. Cool to room temperature. Carefully pour 1 cup cooled Jell-O over shortcakes in serving dishes. Chill.
Meanwhile, add fruit to remaining Jello and chill until slightly thickened. Then top cakes with fruit mixture, pouring some of mixture on outside of cakes to form a glaze. Chill until firm. Makes 6 servings.

If you want a dessert that's easy to make and easier to eat, try this one. There's no cooking, no second beating, and no refreezing.

Lemon Snow Freeze
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
6 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons melted butter
2 eggs, separated
1 can (1 and one-third cups) sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
½ cup lemon juice
1 can Angel Flake Coconut
Combine graham cracker crumbs with 2 tablespoons of the sugar and melted butter. Press mixture on bottom and sides of lightly buttered refrigerator tray; chill. Beat egg yolks till thick. Combine with condensed milk. Add lemon rind and juice gradually, stirring until thick. Stir in 1 cup coconut. Whip egg whites until foamy. Gradually beat in rest of sugar, then beat until stiff. Fold into lemon mixture.
Pour into tray. Sprinkle top with remaining coconut. Chill in freezer until firm, about 4 to 6 hours.

If you're blessed with patience and a freezer, this polka dot climax is for you. Perfect for your patio party if you want to end it with a flourish, and of course, it can be made days ahead of time.

Confetti Snowball Freeze
½ gallon vanilla ice cream
1 quart chocolate ice cream
1 pint orange sherbet
1 pint lime sherbet
1 pint raspberry sherbet
1½ cups whipping cream
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
2 cups crushed sugar wafers
Line bottom of 10-inch spring-form angel food cakepan with wax paper. Chill pan. Have ice cream and sherbet frozen hard. Scoop into small balls and refreeze on cookie sheet. Whip whipping cream until stiff. Fold in sugar and vanilla. Blend in stiffly beaten egg whites. Sprinkle ½ cup fine sugar wafer crumbs on bottom of chilled pan. Spread thin layer of whipped cream mixture. On this place mixed layer of ice cream and sherbet balls. Fill spaces with whipped cream mixture, then sprinkle with more crumbs. Repeat layers until pan is filled. Freeze overnight. Unmold on chilled serving plate. Frost with 1 quart softened ice cream, if desired. Freeze until consistency of thick cream cheese. Sprinkle with additional sugar wafer crumbs. Cut into wedges. Makes 14 to 16 servings.

It costs about $1,630 a year to attend a private college.

She Calculated Her Success In The Computer Field

By Roberta Fleming Roach
"The potential of careers for women in data processing and computer work is almost unlimited," says Mary Batchelor of Chicago, a career woman in the field.

As manager of machine services for General Electric's Information Process Center, Mary supervises the activities of nine computer operators who perform data processing service for banks and industry in the area. She's also considered a pioneer in one of the fastest growing industries of our time.

Secretarial Ambition
"I really planned to be a secretary," Mary admits. "But after I trained to become one and looked for a job, I landed in an organization where there was one small computer and only two operators. That was 15 years ago and the word 'computer' was an infrequently heard term."

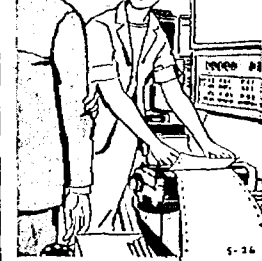

"Actually the machines were called 'electronic calculators,'" Mary said. "And I never thought of running one since I'd had no technical background. But when I got a chance to learn to be an operator—on a part-time basis while I worked as a secretary—I grabbed at the chance because of the opportunity it offered. Also I have always believed there shouldn't be anything you can't learn to do."

On Full-Time Basis
Before long, Mary was working as a full-time operator. Her secretarial days were behind her, and gradually she moved from operator to a supervisory position and then to her present manager's spot.

Lots of training was behind her, too, and she estimates she has taken "thousands of training programs" for operators and programmers. Even in her present spot, she recently took over 300 hours training in advanced computer schools. "Right now the field is growing so fast you have to run just as fast as you can to stay in the same spot and even faster to get any place," she says.

But at the same time, Mary keeps emphasizing that the growing electronic data processing field is a natural for women who will work hard and get the training. However, these days it's not as easy to become a computer operator as it was 10 years ago.

"It now takes about three years to become a really proficient operator due to the increasing complexity of the machines and the programs which control their operation," Mary explains.

Willing And Eager
Most firms using computers, however, are willing and eager to train new people as operators or programmers when they show an aptitude for the work. And from her own experience, Mary believes you can succeed if you work hard and stick to it. "As I said in the beginning, potential careers for women are almost unlimited in the field," she re-emphasizes. "And there shouldn't be anything you can't learn to do when you really want to do it."

Phils, Cubs Divide Two

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Right-hander Ray Culp allowed only one hit—Len Gabrielson's single with one out in the sixth—as Philadelphia trampled Chicago 9-0 and earned a split of a two-night doubleheader Tuesday. The Cubs won the opener 2-0.
Culp, rounding into the form that made him a 14-game winner as a rookie last year, permitted only one base runner until Gabrielson singled to right. The runner was Andre Rodgers, who walked in the first. After Gabrielson singled, Culp retired the last 11 Cubs in order.
Hit Hard
The Phillies unloaded six doubles and a home run behind Culp as they blasted five Chicago pitchers for 17 hits.
The National League-leading Phillies wasted little time, kayoing rookie right-hander Sterling Slaughter in the first inning on Tony Taylor's single, a walk and run-scoring singles by John Callison, Wes Covington, and Tony Gonzalez.
That was all Culp needed to

Hazen, Parting Fish Warden, Praises Clean Pocono Creeks

MT. POCONO—James F. Hazen, Monroe County fish warden, who is being transferred to Montgomery-Philadelphia district on July 1, said yesterday that Monroe and Pike Counties "have the best water in the state."

Hazen, district fish warden here for six years, said in that time he has had only two pollution cases, both of which resulted in convictions and fines. He said there are occasional accidental pollution cases, but emphasized that these are minimal.

Pennsylvania Fish Commission employee since 1958, Hazen served a short time as a warden at Lake Wallenpaupack before coming here in Aug., 1958.

During his six years as warden, he increased public fishing waters in Monroe from 106 to 116 miles of stream. He also secured the opening of Engle's Lake to the public, and in-

Seip Bros. Plan 40-Acre Development

FORKS TWP. — American Land Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Seip Enterprises of Mt. Pocono, is planning a 40-acre housing development, costing in the neighborhood of $2 million, in Forks Twp. near Easton.

The property was purchased by American Land for $50,000 from Asher Seip Jr. He and his brother, Jacob Seip, bought the farm on Rt. 115 south of Heckman Rd., in 1958.

Forks board of supervisors has given preliminary approval to a subdivision, said by Jacob Seip, president of American Land, to involve 75 new homes on one-third acre lots.

Prices will range from $15,000 to $25,000 on the homes to be constructed by Lafayette Homes, Inc., Asher Seip Jr., president.

Composed of three and four bedroom colonial and bi-level dwellings, and ranch homes, the development will be called Forks Farm.

E. T. Sales, Inc., will coordinate land planning and lot layout, while mortgage financing on construction to begin later this summer will be handled mainly by Lafayette Trust Co., and Eastern Federal Savings and Loan Assn., Seip said.

Canadensis Reception For Brians

CANADENSIS — A formal reception for Rev. and Mrs. Brian Kent was held Sunday night at the Canadensis Moravian Church in the form of an informal buffet supper.

Robert Mikels, Sunday school superintendent, opened the festivities by asking all present to join in singing the traditional Moravian grace. Rev. and Mrs. Kent led the guests through the serving line, followed by special guests from the community.

Representing the Canadensis Methodist Church, Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Murray and sons attended. Rev. and Mrs. John Roberts of Mountainhome Methodist Church, attended with their daughter.

From Newfoundland Moravian Church, Rev. and Mrs. Larry Lindemann and children attended. Each of the pastors offered a word of welcome to the Kents.

A floral tribute to the late Karl Price, was centerpiece for the buffet table.

Following the buffet, a film portraying the beginning of the new church edifice from the ground-breaking ceremony, through construction, dedication and first service, was shown.

The church, completed in 1955, was dedicated July 22, 1955. The bell from the old church was installed in the new church tower.

Rev. G. F. Weinland, retired Moravian pastor, acted as master of ceremonies for the festivities.

Monroe County Jail Enters Busy Summer 'Tourist' Season

By Stan Schaffer
Daily Record Reporter
STROUDSBURG — Monroe County jail plays a vital role in county law enforcement, particularly during the summer 'tourist' season.

A team of six deputies, headed by County Sheriff Edward F. Metzger, is a vital link between the police and the courts of law.

Chester Ejdys, warden of the Monroe County jail, said that the busy season begins about June 1. The main reason for this is transient and migrant help which arrives during the tourist season, works for a few days, then gets intoxicated and arrested.

Assisting the sheriff in his office in the courthouse is Eleanor Werkheiser, deputy. Her chief responsibility is to help the sheriff by issuing various permits and other legal papers in his absence.

Sheriff Metzger took office in January, 1964. From the courthouse and the two-story brick and stone jail at 34 N. Seventh St., Sheriff Metzger commands operations. The jail was erected in 1865 and renovated in 1962.

Other staff members assisting the sheriff are Robert (Bob) E. Brinn, chief deputy; Chester Ejdys, warden; John Larney, S. B. Close and Carson Overgard, deputies.

Budget

From Jan. 1, 1963 to Jan. 1, 1964 the Monroe County jail operated on a total of $19,234. This sum of money is used to cover expenses on 17 items, with groceries, meats and provisions requiring an output of $4,115 for food, the largest expense.

Other expenses include the following items and amounts: Salaries: Salary of warden, $3,061.64; salary of physicians, $665.50; salary of cooks, $2,719.77; office supplies and postage, $179.53; medical care and supplies, $77.89; clothing and shoes, $252.28; housekeeping and kitchen supplies, $1,396.29; furniture, linen and bedding, $803.74; and telephone, $130.33.

Also, fuel $876.75; light, water and sewage, $1,007.44; repairs to jail—painting, plumbing, electrical and others, $3,693.33; sheriff's 1964 association dues and other miscellaneous expenses, $209.58; soap and disinfectant, $12; purchase of equipment, $37.97; and trash removal, $91.55.

The jail underwent substantial renovations in October, 1962. At this time the jail was closed until April, 1963. During this time the Northampton County jail in Easton substituted facilities.

The overnight lock-up located in the municipal building in Stroudsburg also aided in the detention of inmates.

Balanced Menu

Inmates receive balanced meals. All the food is prepared in the jail's newly-renovated kitchen—spotless, spick and span.

Alta Metzger, the sheriff's wife, is the chief chef. She prepares the meals in the immaculate kitchen with the aid of an assistant. Most of the meals are prepared and eaten on a family style basis on trays in the jail.

This, of course, depends on the current jail population. The deputies and other help receive one meal per day.

Primary Purpose

The jail has several uses and provides many services. It serves as an overnight detention area; holds prisoners serving longer terms, and holds persons awaiting transfer to other institutions.

The majority of women inmates are detained at the jail for transfer, only a few are confined more than a month.

If a female inmate is to be sentenced by the county for a felony, she is detained in the Wilkes-Barre jail.

Quarter Comparison

For the first four months of 1963, the Monroe County jail handled 132 male inmates; while for the same period in 1964, 108 male inmates were handled.

Also, the jail handled four female inmates for the first quarter of 1963 and eight female inmates for the same period in 1964. (These figures do not necessarily indicate the crime trend in Monroe County).

Blood Donors

During February three inmates donated blood and in April 13 inmates donated blood. In other activities, inmates are permitted to help work around the jail on various chores. Some help paint, install household items and generally help keep the jail in good shape. Worship services are also held on a regular weekly basis.

Visitors are permitted every Tuesday and Friday from 1:30 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 8 p. m. Depending on the number of inmates, the visitors are allowed 30 minutes per visit.

Recreational Facilities

Facilities for recreation inside and outside the jail are permitted daily; but, are very limited. Inside the jail courtyard which measures about 40' by 50' inmates are able to pitch ball and quits.

Presently a basketball net which will allow inmates to shoot basketball is being installed in the jail courtyard. Inside the jail the men may read, play checkers, work on handicrafts and other activities.

Here lies an opportunity for one or several civic-minded citizens to offer services for an educational rehabilitation program under the sheriff's supervision.

County Farms Grow 3,300 Acres Of Corn

HARRISBURG — Monroe County farmers last year harvested a total of 3,300 acres of corn valued at $284,500, crop production figures of the State Department of Agriculture for the county indicated today.

Of the 3,300 acres of corn harvested in the county in 1963, records of the department show that 2,300 acres were harvested for grain and 1,000 acres for silage.

The average yield per acre for corn harvested for grain was 42.2 bushels — as compared with the statewide average of 53 bushels per acre. Corn harvested for silage rounded out to 14.7 tons per acre which was above the statewide average of 10.5 tons per acre.

On the wheat production front, Monroe County farmers last year harvested 46,800 bushels from 1,390 acres with an average yield of 33.7 bushels per acre — 3.2 bushels per acre above the average for the state as a whole. The wheat farmers of the county produced was valued at $82,400.

Coats production in the county last year rounded out to 156,600 bushels, valued at $156,900, harvested from 3,300 acres. The yield of 50.5 bushels per acre was below the statewide average of 55 bushels.

Barley production stood at 400 bushels valued at $400 from a crop planted on 10 acres. The 37.5 bushels per acre average was above the 37.5 average, the department said in rounding out the grain production picture for the county.

On the hay production front — the yield per acre rounded out to 1.69 tons as opposed to the statewide average of 1.52 tons per acre. Total hay produced amounted to 12,500 tons with a value of $472,000.

As to the type of hay grown in Monroe County, clover, timothy and mixtures of clover and grasses were by far the most popular with some 5,000 of the 7,400 acres seeded in these types. This resulted in production of 7,400 tons.

Cy Barrett Says

Selling During School

By Cyrus Barrett, Jr.

DEAR CY:
I am a boy (16) and a high school sophomore, in desperate need of money. For the past two summers, I've done different jobs, such as mowing lawns (never a complaint), and de-lavelling corn (bad hours and worse weather). Also, I have sold name labels and candy door-to-door to raise a band of money. As a result of the band money drive, I won first prize. What I'm looking for is not a "sure fire hot item which sells itself." Experience has taught me this is an impossibility. I'm asking, however, for a product which would be a step up from stationery and candy.

EMPTY WALLET

DEAR EMPTY WALLET:
A young man with your drive and wisdom is ready for cookware selling. You'll sell a needed product which proves everything needs selling. Cookware selling is creative, high-caliber selling, that will give you experience a valuable honing. Some full-time distributors earn over $10,000 their first year, so estimate your earnings based on the time budgeted and on your abilities. Cookware also is a line you may continue selling profitably after school begins. I suggest you check with EKO-Prudential (Milwaukee), The Vollrath Company (Sheboygan), The West Bend Company (West Bend). They are in Wisconsin. Also contact West-Ever Aluminum in New Kensington, Pennsylvania.

DEAR CY:

I am an old man and it has taken so many years to build up this big business that it drives me crazy at times. How would you go about selling it and not hurt the business? Sometimes when customers know a firm is for sale, they shun it. Keeping the sale a secret is very important.

JOHN

DEAR JOHN:
Most people keep secrets. It's those they tell them to who can't. Bankers and accountants, however, don't even tell secrets to others. You should first check with yours, and then advertise the business for sale in the want ad columns of your newspaper. By using a blind box number, you will maintain secrecy.

CY

DEAR CY:
How hard does a man starting a new drive-in franchise have to work? How long before he begins to make some real money? Any way to minimize the risk? I have a wife and three children.

J. MANTENO

DEAR J.:

In starting a drive-in franchise business, plan on working at least 18 months before enjoying a payoff on a $15,000 to $25,000 investment. Some strike gold in 12 months or less, but budget the family for the distant haul. While working towards a pay-out, schedule yourself for working 7 days a week, 52 weeks a year. With success, you can expand the franchise to a small chain of two or more units. As salaried supervisors assume responsibility, you can take weeks off for golf under tension in Scotland or a nervous cruise on the Mediterranean. When selecting a franchise, tie up with an organization which offers to train you, advise on location and give specialized technical help in cost analysis. Some enterprisers, like Patrick O'Hanlon of Delaware, have netted $15,000 in six months of operating a drive-in franchise. Like Frank Smithers of Connecticut and New Jersey, the next move was expansion.

WHAT DOES IT TAKE TO MAKE MORE MONEY? For a FREE, up-to-date list of Cy Barrett's selected publications, write him, c/o this newspaper, but please include a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Washington Report

Humphrey's Cool Nerves, Russell Errors, Vital Factors

By Congressional Quarterly
WASHINGTON — (CQ) — During the jockeying to get the civil rights bill through the Senate, so much has been said about the pivotal role played by Minority Leader Everett McKinley Dirksen (R-Ill.), that two other crucial factors have attracted little attention.

These are the masterful, day-in and day-out perseverance of bill manager Hubert H. Humphrey (D Minn.), and the total failure of Southern leader Richard B. Russell's (D Ga.) strategy.

Humphrey was picked by President Johnson as the floor leader of the bill, and he readily accepted the assignment. Because the bill did not come from a Senate committee, there was no more logical floor captain.

Humphrey was majority whip, had already proven himself an able floor manager, and had long been identified with civil rights.

The keys to Humphrey's success were his organization, his patience, and his good humor.

Liberals Organized
Throughout the three-month Senate debate, the liberals were organized as never before. Humphrey, working closely with Minority Whip Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.), worked out a system for keeping a quorum at hand at all times, with floor captains available to watch and respond to Southern speakers. Democratic and Republican captains were appointed to defend and discuss each title of the bill. The staffs of these Senators met every evening between 5:30 and 6:00. Every morning, the staff, the Senators and representatives of the Justice Department met.

Humphrey's Manner
There were many times when less patience and good humor on Humphrey's part might have changed the situation drastically.

He was anxious that the debate not become bitter or contentious. He resisted suggestions that he be tougher on the filibusters, keep the Senate in longer sessions, and even demand the arrest of absent Senators for quorum calls.

Humphrey went out of his way never to question the motives of the Southerners, to accommodate them when he could, to help them out on quorum calls. He even had the newsletters toned down in their references to the Southern bloc.

Humphrey worked in this manner in the belief that the less bitterness was aroused, the less tempers were lost, the more likely a better bill would be enacted.

want to drive
the world's
rally winner?

If you don't keep up with international rallies like England's RAC and the Classic Monte Carlo, you may not appreciate how solidly built a car must be to stand up to these tortuous endurance runs. SAAB does, year after year... and wins. Because of its unusual 2-stroke engine/front-wheel drive power system*, SAAB consistently beats larger, more powerful cars. SAAB—a 5-passenger family sedan, not a sports car—takes more rally wins than any car in the world.

Needless to say, it performs like nothing else on the road. So come on in and test-drive a 1964 SAAB. You just can't believe people still take the trouble to build a car as great as this one.

*Warranted for 2 years or 24,000 miles.
